

March 11, 1922.

Mr. T. W. Norcross, Chief Engineer,
Forest Service,
U.S. Dept. Agriculture,
Washington, D.C.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your letter of February 8, 1922,
"EM, Atlas, Geographic Names and my reply of February 14th, 1922:

On October 7, 1908 the Board established the name
Toiyabe for the range of mountains in Nye County, Nevada, and on April 2, 1919, Wynoochee for the river in Grays Harbor County, Washington.

At its last meeting held on March 1st, the question of establishing the form Toiyabe for the mountains and Wynoochee for river was considered but the Board declined to make the change asked for.

Very truly,

Secretary.
